The organization "Rehabilitation Initiative for Vulnerable Groups" (RIVG) held its meeting in Shida Kartli region which was attended Giorgi Khojevanishvili,-the State Representative of Shida Kartli and his deputy Amiran Kristesiashvili. The goal of the meeting was to sum up the project about the process of preventing and avoiding- mediation of vulnerable groups and creating of communicative ways between these two institutions. According to the representatives of the organization, working meetings between the institutions and close communication give an opportunity to relevant organizations to work more effectively in the direction of developing serviced and preventing crimes for avoided vulnerable groups. "The regional administration is ready to cooperate closely with relevant services and organizations in conflict with the law and to facilitate the socialization of adolescents at risk. One of the most important components is the offering of the services according to their requirements. It is important to help our youth to reestablish their resources and return to their full membership in society. The involvement of the local authorities and the society, in general, in this process is important," said the State Representative. The meeting was conducted within the project "Establishment of a system of providing continuous services of juveniles in Shida Kartli region through strengthening of local self-government" which is financed by the fund the open society (OSGF).
