

The project "Strengthening Civil Society in the villages"

29 May 2016

Training Center of Justice of Georgia from July 1 to September 30 starts training programs for free in 33 villages of Georgia. The training will be conducted in social centers and will cover the following topics:

1. Law and Human Rights
2. The constitutional bodies and local self-government system
3. The right to property, corporate and tax law, basic concepts
4. What is the EU?
5. What is discrimination?
6. Effective communication
7. Conflict Management
8. Time management
9. Project Management
10. Writing Project.

Anyone who wishes to participate should register from June 18 to July 1 and satisfy the following requirements, participant should be:

- Inhabitant of the village where is located social center. Adjoining village inhabitants will also be able to attend training.
- Aged from 18 to 65
- Interested to get information about his civil rights and engagement
- Interested to develop social skills

There are two ways to register:

1. To fill registration form in social centers of villages
2. To fill registration form on the web-site : tcj.goc.ge

Inhabitants from Shida Kartli villages Ruisi, Mejvriskhevi and adjoining villages can also be involved in the project.

Project Purpose is:

To strengthen civil society, to raise juridical consciousness of rural population and supporting personal development by accessibility of developing programs.